Safeguarding Procedure:

1. The designated club safeguarding officer should undergo/have undergone at least “introductory” and preferably “leading on” safeguarding training or its equivalent so as to be able to undertake their role. Other volunteers may also access appropriate training or non-accredited learning as part of individual safeguarding risk management if deemed appropriate by the Safeguarding Officer.
2. Recognising the signs and symptoms of abuse Members of the club that are directly involved with children are required to recognise signs and symptoms of abuse. There are 4 main areas of abuse: Physical Abuse Emotional Abuse Sexual Abuse Neglect (intentional and unintentional) These are explained in appendix 3.
3. Possible signs of abuse include:
 - Unexplained or suspicious injuries such as bruising cuts or burns, particularly if situated on a part of the body not normally prone to such injuries or the explanation of the cause of the injury is does not seem right.
 - You observe or the child discloses abuse, or describes what appears to be an abusive act.
 - Someone else (child or adult) expresses concern about the welfare of another child.
 - Unexplained change in behaviour such as withdrawal or sudden outbursts of temper.
 - Inappropriate sexual awareness or sexually explicit behaviour.
 - Distrust of adults, particularly those with whom a close relationship would normally be expected.
 - Difficulty in making friends.
 - Eating disorders, depression, self-harm or suicide attempts.
4. The club recognises that there are many ways that an organisation or individual may become aware about a child or young person’s safety.

For example:

- a third party or anonymous allegation is received;
- a child or young person's appearance, behaviour, play, drawing or statements cause suspicion of abuse and/or neglect;
- a child or young person reports an incident(s) of alleged abuse which occurred some time ago; a written report is made regarding the serious misconduct of a worker towards a child or young person;
- an incident is witnessed;
- a police charge is made.
- No safeguarding issue will be ignored or dismissed by the ECF as "minor"

5. Acting on a safeguarding issue

If you have concerns about the welfare of a child:

a) Ask: Is the child in immediate danger or are they injured? If yes - Contact the emergency services 999.

b) Report the concern: It is important that there should be no delay in contacting either the Social Services or the police if someone thinks a crime may have been committed. Any individual can do this, 24 hours/day, it does not have to be the Safeguarding Officer. If it is not thought that a crime has been committed but there is concern for a child's welfare then the issue should be reported to the safeguarding officer within 24 hours as per below.

1. If the issue arises during a club event report the concerns to the club designated safeguarding officer who will contact the local Children's Social Care Services (Social Services) for advice or to make a referral in the first instance and follow up with a written report within 24 hours. If the safeguarding officer is not available the organiser or the individual raising the concern must do this.

2. If the issue arises at any other time or event report the concerns to your organisation's safeguarding officer who will contact the local Children's Social Care Services (Social Services) for advice or to make a referral in the first instance and follow up with a written report within 24 hours. If the safeguarding officer is not available the organiser or the individual raising the concern must do this.

3. If there is no one else available to help, contact the police 101.

c) Ensure you keep a record of your concern and how you reported it (see appendix 4 for a form to record it on). This form is completed by the person raising the concern. All information recorded is confidential. Please note that parents/carers should not be spoken to if the discussions may put the child at risk of harm.

Stages in acting on the concern

There is further advice on acting on the concern in appendix 5. This includes advice on talking to the child and this should be used in conjunction with the "Form for recording concerns/allegations of abuse, harm or neglect" (appendix 4). All information recorded is confidential.

6. Safe recruitment

All club members undertaking training or other direct roles in relation to children must work for and educational establishment and have undergone a DBS check and safeguarding training. Members should be advised that they must follow their organisations Child Protection Code of Conduct (See Appendix 1). Members will be advised that they are expected to make themselves aware of the organisation's child protection/safeguarding policy. They will be provided with a copy of the policy or given electronic access to it. A record should be kept that the copy/advice has been given.

7. Allegations against staff and volunteers

If an allegation of abuse (please see the definitions in appendix 3) is made against staff or volunteers it should be reported immediately to the safeguarding officer. In all cases the Local Authority Designated Officer (LADO) should be involved in the immediate discussion with the safeguarding officer or the alternative official to confirm next steps. The contact for LADO is Lado@bracknell-forest.gov.uk 01344 354 017. The LADO should be made aware of the incident within one working day. Extra considerations following contact with the LADO are included in appendix 7. The police and/or Children Social Work Service investigation takes precedence and no internal investigation may take place until the organisation has been advised they may do so by the LADO or police.

8. Recording and managing confidential information

A form for recording concerns/allegations of abuse, harm and neglect which is completed by the person raising the concern is included (See Appendix 4). Records relating to child protection may include: Safe recruitment documentation such as employment and engagement applications, references, identity verification, records of DBS or similar statutory disclosure checks. The safeguarding/child protection policy and any revisions, records of distribution to or receipt of the policy, records of any protection policy training offered or received. Accident records, incident records, records of concerns/allegations of abuse, harm and neglect (including actions taken such as referrals, assessments, plans and support), correspondence related to child protection. Storage of records

Some best practice advice for when considering the storage of records:

- Information about concerns, allegations, and referrals should not be kept in one 'concern log' rather information or items relating to individuals need to be kept in separate files.
- Records of referrals to the Social Services and Police will be kept by those organisations
- Files containing sensitive or confidential data should be locked away and access to the keys strictly controlled.
- Access to those records needs to be limited to people in named roles who either need to know about the information in those records and/or who manage the records/files.
- If records are stored electronically then password-protect those records, which only limited staff should have access to.
- Records are kept for an appropriate period from adoption of the policy.

9. Confidentiality

Children and young people have a right to confidentiality unless the organisation considers they could be at risk of abuse and/or harm. The legal principle is that the "welfare of the child is paramount". Privacy and confidentiality should be respected where possible but if doing this leaves a child at risk of harm then the child's safety has to come first. Legally, it is perfectly acceptable to share information if someone is worried about the safety of a child but only people who need to know should be told.

10. Distributing and reviewing the policy

The policy will be freely available to all members. It will be displayed on the club website, constituent member organisations and members secretaries will be made aware of this, its location and how to access it so that they can disseminate the information. The club will keep a record of the distribution of the information to those constituent member organisations and members' secretaries. A photocopy of the policy will be available from the safeguarding lead on request. The policy will be reviewed annually by the Safeguarding Officer.

11. Responsibilities of management committees

The club board is responsible for approving the club policy and its implementation within the club. The club board is responsible for adding new procedures as required and informing its staff and volunteers of changes, which includes advertising it on its website. The club board has a responsibility to monitor which staff and volunteers (not members) in their organisation have enhanced DBS checks and safeguarding training and advise those who may need either due to their work. The club board has a responsibility to ensure the Safeguarding Officer undertakes periodic monitoring and review to ensure that safeguards are being implemented and are effective in the organisation and that risk is being managed.

Appendix 3:

Recognising Abuse

PHYSICAL ABUSE: May involve hitting, shaking, throwing, poisoning, burning or scalding, drowning, suffocating, or otherwise causing physical harm to a child. Physical harm may also be caused when a parent/carer fabricates the symptoms of, or deliberately induces illness in a child.

EMOTIONAL ABUSE: Is the persistent emotional maltreatment of a child such as to cause severe and persistent adverse effects on the child's emotional development. It may involve conveying to children that they are worthless or unloved, inadequate, or valued only in so far as they meet the needs of another person. It may include not giving the child opportunities to express their views, deliberately silencing them or “making fun” of what they say or how they communicate. It may feature age or developmentally inappropriate expectations being imposed on children. These may include interactions that are beyond the child’s developmental capability, as well as overprotection and limitation of exploration and learning, or preventing the child participating in normal social interaction. It may involve seeing or hearing the ill-treatment of another. It may involve serious bullying, (including cyber-bullying) causing children frequently to feel frightened or in danger, or the exploitation or corruption of children. Some level of emotional abuse is involved in all types of maltreatment of a child, though it may occur alone.

SEXUAL ABUSE: Involves forcing or enticing a child or young person to take part in sexual activities, not necessarily involving a high level of violence, whether or not the child is aware of what is happening. The activities may involve physical contact, including assault by penetration (for example, rape or oral sex) or non-penetrative acts such as masturbation, kissing, rubbing and touching outside of clothing. They may include non-contact activities, such as involving children in looking at, or in the production of, sexual online images, watching sexual activities, or encouraging children to behave in sexually inappropriate ways, or grooming a child in preparation for abuse (including via the internet). Sexual abuse is not solely perpetrated by adult males. Women can also commit acts of sexual abuse, as can other children.

NEGLECT: Is the persistent failure to meet a child’s basic physical and/or psychological needs, likely to result in the serious impairment of the child’s health or development. Neglect may occur during pregnancy as a result of maternal substance abuse. It may also include neglect of, or unresponsiveness to, a child’s basic emotional needs.

Appendix 5. Advice

Stages of Acting on a Concern

Stage 1

Initially talk to a child/young person about what you are observing. It is okay to ask questions, for example: "I've noticed that you don't appear yourself today, is everything okay? But never use leading questions

- Listen carefully to what the young person has to say and take it seriously. Act at all times towards the child as if you believe what they are saying.
- It is not the responsibility of groups to investigate incidences of suspected child abuse but to gather information and refer only. Since you are not investigating, do not take photographs of injuries or video the child.
- Always explain to children and young people that any information they have given will have to be shared with others, if this indicates they and or other children are at risk of harm;
 - Notify the organisation's Named Person for safeguarding
- Record what was said as soon as possible after any disclosure; the person who receives the allegation or has the concern should complete a pro-forma and ensure it is signed and dated.
- Respect confidentiality and file documents securely;

Stage 2

- The Named person(s) should take immediate action if there is a suspicion that a child has been abused or likely to be abused. In this situation the Named Person should contact the Children and Young Peoples Service or police.
 - Once you have made contact with Children and Young Peoples Service they should within 24 hours of receiving your referral:
 - discuss reasons for the concern with the referrer
 - involve and discuss with appropriate professionals/agencies
 - establish if a criminal offence has been committed and involve the police
 - take into consideration, based on available information, whether there are concerns about the child's health or developments.
 - look at a further enquiry, assessment or take immediate action if necessary
 - consider timescales and how best to undertake it. NB Parents / carers will need to be informed about any referral to Children & Young People's Service unless to do so would place the child at an increased risk of harm. Sometimes concerns about a child may not be about abuse. You may be concerned that a child or family need some help in making sure all the child's needs are met to address a particular problem. Examples of this might be where a child is suffering because of poverty or has a disability and needs extra help. In these instances you can get them help from the Children and Young Persons Services who can use Common Assessment Framework (CAF) as a means of support.
- 22 Appendix 7 Considerations in allegations against volunteers and staff Following an allegation: The LADO will pursue the allegation firstly with the organisation to obtain further details of the incident and circumstances. The liaison with the organisation should determine whether the allegation is unsubstantiated. If the allegation is a definite possibility and there is cause for concern that a child is suffering, at risk or likely to suffer significant harm, then the LADO should initiate a strategy discussion with Children's Social Services. The LADO and organisation should be involved in the loop of activity and outcomes. If a criminal offence has occurred then the LADO should immediately involve the police and decide whether an investigation is needed. The organisation should be involved in any discussion.

- There should be a Safeguarding Lead or Officer to whom all concerns are referred. That person would then refer to Children's Social Care Services.
- It is important to share any child protection concerns with Children's Social Care Services and to make a joint and open decision as to how to proceed.
- In the rare situations that the concerns are about the child protection person, it is important to refer to the deputy person. This may not be appropriate, in which case any member may personally refer direct to Children's Social Care Services. For an academy or similar, in the case that the Safeguarding Lead or Officer is implicated, the head/director/principal should be informed. In the case of a head/director/principal being implicated then the supervising board should be informed. In extremely exceptional circumstances it is the duty of the person with the concern to refer under "Whistle Blowing" and contact the LADO (Local Authority Designated Officer, or the police if a crime may have committed.
- In an emergency, dialling 999 may be the only sensible course of action. • The LADO, Children's Social Care Services and/or the police will advise, assist and support you in any future actions you would need to take e.g. informing parents
- Ensure that all everyone understands that: Any whistleblower disclosing information in good faith will be protected if he/she has a reasonable suspicion of child abuse. 24

Appendix 6

Photography and Videos: Recording the event with photos or videos can be really important to celebrate children's achievements. Unfortunately, photos and videos, including the use of camera phones, can be misused by child abusers, especially via the Internet. It is therefore important to be clear about:

- ✓ explaining to parents and carers why caution is necessary
 - ✓ the purpose of photos e.g. parent's own record, media & publicity etc
 - ✓ the content required when using a professional photographer
 - ✓ informing parents and seeking their consent for any publication or media use
 - ✓ publishing only limited children/young people's details alongside their photos in newspapers etc
 - ✓ any club/group photos being taken only during the activity or on the premises
 - ✓ all those taking photos signing a registration form
- Guidance: Make sure parents understand that you will be taking photos or video footage and be clear how you will use them. If the images will be reproduced in the media it is vital to seek parental permission and give a general description to the press instead of names or other identifying information of children are used. If the public wish to photograph or video the activity ensure they register their name and address with you beforehand, put up a sign near the area, suggested wording "Anyone wishing to use photographic/film/video equipment should register their intent with the promoter of the event". Be wary of adults who take photos who do not appear to be with any children as parents or carers. Exercise extra caution if you post any images on a website, it is safer to use large group shots or blurred images for this. If you have concerns about the welfare of a child contact your local Children's Social Care Services Office or out of hours / emergency duty
